Substitution of new
section for section 2,
Act XLII of 1919.

Definition.

Amendment of section
2, Act XLII of
1919.

Repeal of Act XI of 1919.

4. For section 2 of the said Act the following section shall be substituted, namely:—

"2. In this Act the words 'gold' and 'silver' mean, respectively gold and silver coin or gold and silver bullion."

5. In section 3 of the said Act for the word "silver" in both places where it occurs, the words "gold or silver" shall be substituted.

6. The Indian Paper Currency (Amendment) Act, 1919, is hereby repealed.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

By a series of movements ending with the Indian Paper Currency (Amendment) Act, 1919 (II of 1919), the medium lent up in which the currency reserve can be invested in securities has been raised to Rs. 100 crores of which Rs. 50 crores used to be Indian Treasury Bills. The Indian Treasury balances at the present time are very low, and it is probable that during the course of the next two or three months it will be necessary, in view of the difficulty of transferring the Government's funds from London to India, to replace them by making a further investment of the currency reserve. It is accordingly proposed by this Bill to increase the limit of Rs. 50 crores mentioned above to Rs. 100 crores, thereby allowing a further investment, if need necessary, of Rs. 50 crores in British Treasury Bills.

2. At the same time, the opportunity is being taken to provide for the issue of notes against gold held on behalf of the Secretary of State in the United States of America or on behalf of the Secretary of State. Reserves of gold are now in course of shipment from America to India, and, in order to facilitate the return to which the exporting powers mentioned above may have to be sent, it is desirable to legalize the holding of such gold in the currency reserve before it has actually reached India. Act No. XLII of 1919 provided for the holding, as part of the currency reserve, of silver held on behalf of the Secretary of State in the United States of America or in French territory, and it is proposed to effect the present object by amending that Act so as to make it applicable also to gold.

S. M. SMITH,

Off. Secretary to the Government of India.

Class 16.—There was provision in the Act for the removal or stay of suits which are pending against a debtor when an order of adjudication is made against him. We have, therefore, proposed the addition of a new section 16 A on the lines of section 16 (2) of the Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, 1908.

We have also provided power in a new section 16 C to arrest a debtor who has absconded after an order of adjudication has been made against him.

Class 17.—This class proposed to bring section 34 into line with section 43 of the Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, 1908. It has evoked considerable criticism, particularly with reference to the difficulty of proving whether a creditor had notice of the proceedings or not. We, therefore, propose to restrict the rights of creditors under section 34 to debts realized before the date of admission of a petition. We provide at the same time by a new clause 17 A, amending section 43 of the Act that the costs of the suit as well as of the execution shall be a first charge on property delivered by the Court under that section to the creditor.

Class 17.—We have brought the proviso in section 43 into line with that appearing in section 43 of the Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, 1908.

Class 18.—The Committee have considered a very large number of suggestions with regard to new sections 43 A, 43 B and 43 C which are introduced by this class of the Bill. The only suggestion that we have adopted here is to provide that vestments of imprisonment in respect of advances made in the course of the same insolvency proceedings shall not exceed in the aggregate two years, and that the Court may, instead of requiring a debt to be entered under section 43 A, make a certificate to the extent Magistrate of the first class. We have carefully considered an important suggestion that, where a certificate not exceeding three months has been passed by a District Court, it not should be an appeal, but we think it would be inadvisable to introduce any such provision into the Act.

Class 19.—It has been suggested that provision should be made for the consideration of an order which results in an order of adjudication where the debtor is able to satisfy the Court that he was prevented by reasonable cause from presenting or proceeding to present his application for discharge. We are of opinion that it is reasonable that there should be power in such a case to permit a debtor to present a fresh petition if he is able to satisfy the Court which cancelled the order of adjudication that he had reasonable cause for his failure. The necessary amendment has been introduced in section 43 (d) which was originally a proviso to section 4 C.

Class 21.—We think there is considerable force in the suggestion put forward by several authorities that section 45 (f) of the Act as it stands gives no express preference to those creditors who obtain leave making any attempt to prove their debts. We have, therefore, provided so in section 45 of the Presidency-towns Insolvency Act that an order of discharge shall release the insolvent from all debts provable under the Act.

Class 22.—There are conflicting decisions of the High Courts as to the meaning of the words "any person appearing." We have, therefore, proposed further amendments in section 46 of the Act with the object of making it clear that creditors as well as the insolvent are entitled to the benefits conferred by that section.

We have adopted the suggestion that where a creditor's right to sue is barred by the provisions of the Act, the period between the making of an order of adjudication and the assignment of such an order shall be excluded from the period of limitation applicable to the suit. These provisions, however, will not apply to suits in respect of debts which are provable but are not proved under the Act.

We have by a new clause 53 B, in the Bill provided that rules may be made regarding the procedure to be followed in cases where the debtor is a firm as in section 122 (f) (a) of the Presidency-towns Insolvency Act.

6. In view of the repeal of section 22 (2) (3) of the Act and of the provisions of the Bill under which a debtor, when under arrest or imprisonment, will automatically only be admitted to apply for a protection order after adjudication, we recommend that section 28 (4) of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, which provides for the automatic release of a debtor upon his expressing an intention to apply to be declared an insolvent, should be repealed.

7. The amendments which we propose in the Bill are very numerous, but we do not consider that they affect the principle of the Bill in such an extent as to render re-presentation necessary. We do not, however, recommend that the Bill should be passed by the Council as it stands. We endorse the suggestion that has been made on several occasions that the opportunity should be taken to consider the law, and we think that the Bill should be reconsidered by the Council to see for this purpose.

2. In sub-section (1) of section 3 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907 (hereinafter referred to as the said Act), the following amendments shall be made, namely:—

(a) the definition of "available out of insolvency" and "the Court" shall be omitted;

(b) for the definition of "several creditors" the following shall be substituted, namely:—

"several creditors" means a person holding a mortgage, charge or lien on the property of the debtor or any part thereof as a security for a debt due to him from the debtor; and

(c) the following definition shall be added, namely:—

"the transfer of property" includes a transfer of any interest in property and the vesting of any charge upon property.

3. After section 5 of the said Act the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

5-A. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, the Court shall have full power to decide all questions whether of title or priority, or of any nature whatsoever, and whether involving matters of law or of fact, which may arise in any case of insolvency coming within the cognizance of the Court, or which the Court may deem it expedient or necessary to decide for the purpose of doing complete justice or making a complete distribution of property in any such case.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this Act and notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force, every such decision shall be final and binding for all purposes as between the debtor and all persons claiming through or under them or any of them.

(3) Where the Court does not deem it expedient or necessary to decide any question of the nature referred to in sub-section (1) but has reason to believe that the debtor has a claim or interest in any property, the Court may without further inquiry call such interest or claim into issue and subject to such conditions as it may think fit, liquidate the same.

4. For section 6 of the said Act the following sections shall be substituted, namely:—

6. No insolvency petition shall be presented against any corporation or company registered under any enactment for the time being in force.

6-A. (1) A creditor shall not be entitled to present an insolvency petition against a debtor unless—

(a) the debt owing by the debtor to the creditor, or, if two or more creditors join in the petition, the aggregate amount of debts owing to such creditors amounts to five hundred rupees; and

(b) the debt is a liquidated sum payable either immediately or at some certain future time, and

(c) the act of insolvency on which the petition is grounded has occurred within three months before the presentation of the petition.

(2) If the presenting creditor is a secured creditor, he shall in his petition either state that he is willing to discharge his security for the benefit of the creditors or the credit of the debtor being adjudged insolvent, or place an estimate of the value of the security. In the latter case he may be admitted as a presenting creditor to the nature of the balance of the debt due to him after deducting the value so estimated in the same way as if he were an unsecured creditor.

6-B. (1) A debtor shall not be entitled to present an insolvency petition unless he is unable to pay his debts and—

(a) his debts amount to five hundred rupees; or

(b) he is under arrest or imprisonment in consequence of the decree of any Court for the payment of money; or

(c) an order of attachment in execution of such a decree has been made, and is subsisting, against his property.

(2) A debtor in respect of whom an order of adjudication made under this Act has been rescinded owing to his failure to apply, or to prosecute an application, for his discharge shall not be entitled to present an insolvency petition without the leave of the Court, by which the order of adjudication was rescinded. Such Court shall not grant leave unless it is satisfied either that the debtor was prevented by any reasonable cause from presenting or prosecuting his application, or that any law, or that the petition is founded on substantially different facts from those contained in the petition or which the order of adjudication was made.

6-C. Every insolvency petition shall be presented to a Court having jurisdiction under this Act in any local area in which the debtor ordinarily resides or carries on business, or personally works for gain, or, if he has been arrested or imprisoned, where he is in custody.

Provided that no objection as to the place of presentation shall be allowed by any appellate or revisional Court unless such objection was taken in the Court by which the petition was heard at the earliest possible opportunity, and unless there has been a change of place of residence.

(2) A protection order may apply either to all the debts of the debtor, or to any of them, as the Court may think proper, and may take effect at and for such time as the Court may direct, and may be renewed or renewed as the Court may think fit.

(3) A protection order shall protect the husband from being arrested or detained in prison for any debt in which such order applies, and any husband arrested or detained contrary to the terms of such an order shall be entitled to his release.

Provided that no such order shall operate to prejudice the rights of any creditor in the event of such order being made in the subject-matter mentioned.

(4) Any creditor shall be entitled to appear and appear in the Court, and if it has reason to believe as the application of any order of adjudication or the manner that the debtor has abandoned or departed from the fixed home at its jurisdiction will intend to avoid any obligation which he has incurred, or might be, imposed on him by or under this Act, order a warrant to issue for his arrest and on his appearance or being brought before it, may, if satisfied that he has abandoned or has departed from such order, order his release on such terms as it may in reasonable or necessary do, of such security as it may think fit to require to be given for a period which may extend to three months.

26-C. All any time after an order of adjudication has been made the Court may, if it has reason to believe as the application of any order of adjudication or the manner that the debtor has abandoned or departed from the fixed home at its jurisdiction will intend to avoid any obligation which he has incurred, or might be, imposed on him by or under this Act, order a warrant to issue for his arrest and on his appearance or being brought before it, may, if satisfied that he has abandoned or has departed from such order, order his release on such terms as it may in reasonable or necessary do, of such security as it may think fit to require to be given for a period which may extend to three months.
